DETAILED ACTION

Specification

1. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

2. The abstract of the disclosure is objected to because it is not on a single paragraph and it should summarize the disclosure. Correction is required. See MPEP § 608.01(b).
3. The title of the invention is not descriptive. A new title is required that is clearly indicative of the invention to which the claims are directed.

The following title is suggested: "Lens machining apparatus and method".

Claim Objections

4. Claims 3 and 4 are objected to because of the following informalities: Claims 3 and 4 are presented as method claims, but, the structure does not conform to the US standard and practice, i.e., a method claim should recite the steps in the method, whereas here, the preamble recites a method of machining using a spectacle lens machining apparatus which includes... is Applicant claiming one step method? The step should be properly recited. Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

Art Unit: 3723

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

6. Claims 1, 3 and 4 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Woods,

US Patent No. 5,053,971.

Woods discloses all the limitations of the above claims, i.e., a lens apparatus and machining method with a lens holding unit holding the lens at a center part by a shaft (128), a circumferential surface edging unit a groove machining unit and a lens shape measurement unit, it discloses a cutter including plurality of cutting portions for chamfering or pin beveling the lens corners.

Wherein the proper speed and feed rate are set based on the material selected, col. 10, line 28, and rotating the chuck in accordance with one or more operations, col. 1, lines 45-53, and wherein the thickness is determined and utilized in the instruction set in the program, col. 4, lines 45-55.

Wherein the method includes the steps of detecting the displacement of a probe (74) in the direction of the thickness and calculating other positions, or mapping the surface of the lens and a step of edging, col. 4, lines 17-56, and further steps of beveling, grooving and chamfering.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

7. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Art Unit: 3723

8. Claim 2 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wood et al. in view of Mizuno et al., US Patent No. 6,074,280.

Wood et al meets all the limitations of the above, except for specifically disclosing setting the speed based on rough machining or fine machining. Mizuno et al. teaches setting the speed in reference to the material used or the input processing condition, and different speed for rough or fine finishing (mirror-finish). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art, at the time the invention was made, to modify the invention of Woods et al. by setting the speed by input process condition, e.g., the type of machining as taught by Mizuno et al. for an enhanced lens grinding, which can shorten the processing time and improve the quality, Mizuno et al., col. 1, lines 55-61.

Conclusion

9. Prior art made of record and not relied upon are considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Shibata is cited to show related inventions.
